

ABSTRACT

A system may include an integrated circuit die, a package, and an interconnect. The integrated circuit die may include a conductive die pad, the package may include a conductive package pad, and the interconnect may include two or more stranded wires. A 5 first end of the interconnect is electrically coupled to the conductive die pad, and a second end of the interconnect is electrically coupled to the package pad.